EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Michael Bujold on July 16, 2001.

The application has been amended as follows:

In The Claims:

In claim 66, line 5, after "in" second recitation, insert --the--;
line 6, before "peripheral", insert --the--;
after "and" first recitation, insert --the tissue bed--.

The above amendment was made to correct an unintentional omission of "the tissue bed" from the second phrase of the body of the claim, and to make the "tissue bed" and "peripheral blood vessel" in the second phrase refer back to their antecedent.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: please see the Remarks in Paper No. 11. Additionally, the present invention claims a device and method for administration of an anaesthetic dose to a subject, wherein blood flow is monitored, changes in blood flow are generated as a cardiac output, and administration of the anaesthetic is varied based upon the cardiac output. The Examiner notes that as the apparatus claim 82 claims, in part, "means for varying administration of the anaesthetic dose to the subject based upon the cardiac output," the Applicant invoked §112, 6th ¶ with respect to that phrase, and the Examiner performed his search accordingly.

Ekenstam et al. '576 discloses intracoronary administration of an anaesthesia, in which dosages are varied according to coronary blood flow, but does not teach varying dosages according to cardiac output. None of the prior art of record teaches a device for administering an anaesthetic dose, which includes a blood flow monitor, a mechanism for providing blood flow changes as cardiac output, and means for varying administration of the dose based upon the cardiac output. Thus, the present invention is deemed allowable over the prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
